

School results: No Child Left Behind

Out of 82 schools in Boone, Kenton and Campbell counties, these 18 did not meet required goals for making “adequate yearly progress” under the No Child Left Behind Act.

SCHOOL	DISTRICT	REASON FOR NOT MAKING ADEQUATE YEARLY PROGRESS	MUST ALLOW STUDENT TRANSFERS?
Collins Elementary School	Boone	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	No*
Gray Middle School	Boone	Disabled students did not meet goal for reading scores	N/A
Alexandria Elementary School	Campbell	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	N/A
Campbell County High School	Campbell	Disabled students did not meet goal for reading scores	N/A
Campbell County Middle School	Campbell	Disabled students did not meet goals for reading and math scores	N/A
Highland Heights Elementary School	Campbell	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	No*
Dayton High School	Dayton	Graduation rate of 54 percent fell short of 73 percent goal	No*
Dayton Middle School	Dayton	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	No*
Fourth Street Elementary School	Newport	Disabled students did not meet goal for reading scores	Yes
Swing Elementary School	Covington	Black and low-income students didn't meet goal for math scores	No*
Holmes Junior and Senior High	Covington	Students overall did not meet math or reading goals	No
Carlisle Elementary School	Covington	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	Yes
Two Rivers Middle School	Covington	Students overall did not meet math or reading goals	No
Lindeman Elementary School	Erlanger-Elsmere	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	No*
Tichenor Middle School	Erlanger-Elsmere	Disabled students did not meet goal for reading scores	N/A
Ryland Heights Elementary School	Kenton	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	No*
Twenhofel Middle School	Kenton	Low-income students did not meet goal for reading scores	N/A
Ludlow Middle School	Ludlow	CATS scores didn't improve enough from 2002 to 2003	N/A

NOTE: CATS stands for Commonwealth Accountability Testing System, a test given every spring.

No* These schools met goals the year before. Schools must fail two years in a row before penalties apply.

N/A** These schools do not receive a significant amount of Title 1 federal aid for low-income students. Thus, they are not subject to penalties under NCLB.

No*** These schools were reconfigured within the last two years and have not existed long enough to face penalties.

Source: Kentucky Department of Education

The Enquirer/ELIZABETH KANE